House Votes Down Townsend Old Age Pension Plan

Decisive Vote Cast In House This Morning

Roll Call Shows Vote Of 302-97 Against Bill—36 Did Not Vote

DR. TOWNSEND IN HOUSE GALLERY

Democratic Leaders Forced Showdown Vote To 'Get' Republicans

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The house today killed the Townsend old-age pension plan bill in the face of threats of political retaliation against opponents of the plan in the 1940 elections.

The vote was 302 against the bill, 97 for. Only 36 members failed to vote.

The vote was clear cut. It was on the Hendrick's bill, embodying the Townsend pension plan as approved by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, leader of the movement.

Democratic leaders, who forced the showdown vote, plan to follow today's action with consideration of an administration bill revising and liberalizing the present social security act which provides speeding up of old-age pension payments.

Answer Reluctantly

Scores of members answered the house roll-call reluctantly and dolefully, many frankly admitting that they may have sealed their political fate by their votes.

While the vote concededly was sponsored by Democratic leaders to put Republicans, who flirted with

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Rain was very welcome this morning. Farmers and gardeners have been asking for it, as the ground had become very dry. As the song goes, we must have both, "sunshine and rain".

Weed cutters in the employ of the city have started the rounds of city streets, cutting down the weeds along the sidewalks and curbs. In some places the weeds had already grown quite high.

New Castle high school seniors were having a big day today, it being the annual class day. Numerous gaily decorated autos were seen headed towards the school early this morning.

Just as drought conditions here threatened to become serious, a nice rain soaking rain sneaked up on the district early this morning. It was a tough break for the high school seniors who had selected today for the senior picnic at Stoughton's Beach. However, the rain did gardens and lawns a tremendous amount of good.

Owen Fox states that while planting more flowers in the park on the Diamond this morning, he found the soil almost as "dry as powder", and that more rain would be very beneficial.

In driving about the city, Pa Newc has observed several bad holes in the paving which are hard on the springs of automobiles. One is just about the Central fire station in South Jefferson street, and another is in Laurel avenue, near Blaine street, which was newly paved only a short time ago.

Seniors Of High School Enjoy Unique Class Day Program This Morning

Hotel Hi-Ca-Ne lobby, arranged on the stage of the local senior high school auditorium, was the scene of the fun making activities of the graduating class members, in presenting their traditional Class Day program, this morning.

"Sports" was used as the general theme throughout the program, with a group of performers from a sports' carnival, who were supposedly lodging at the hotel over night, taking part.

Ned Davenport, as desk clerk, was responsible for the attractively and nattily dressed bellhops, Peg Usselton, Sally Hares, Audine Frasso and Ruth Nunley. The bellhops ushered the 396 seniors to their seats in the center section of the auditorium while the high school band poured forth the familiar strains of the school song

"The Chestnut Tree."

Ruth Cartwright and Marjorie Thomas brought a bit of entertainment by singing, "The Chestnut Tree," and provided suitable gestures. Manager of the hotel, Jack Matthews, announced that three of the newly arrived guests, Helen McCommon, Virginia Morrison and Carol Rakestraw would present a short comedy skit.

Soviet Awaits New Moves For Triple Entente

Britain And France Must Show Hand On Baltic States Guarantee

SOVIET PREMIER GIVES ATTITUDE

Vague Threat Of Russo-German Reapprochement Is Also Seen In Speech

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 1.—Fate of the embryonic triple entente, momentarily halted in development by Premier Vyacheslav Molotov's uncompromising speech before the supreme Soviet last night, rested today on just how far Britain and France will go in guaranteeing independence of the relatively defenseless Baltic states.

Also there existed the question of whether Finland, Latvia, and Estonia would follow the example of Poland, Rumania, Greece, and Turkey in accepting Anglo-French guarantees. For the Baltic States, formerly parts of Czarist Russia, and now alarmed over German expansion, wish to maintain neutrality and avoid joining any international bloc.

Communist District

In a speech studded with communist distrust of the western Democracies and their fidelity to a pact that might leave some loophole in the event the U. S. S. R. or one of her western neighbors were attacked, Molotov nevertheless left the diplomatic path unobstructed towards further negotiations with London and Paris.

The speech, Molotov's first since he also took over the office of foreign commissar, at the same time

Paint Company At Bristol Destroyed By Flames Today

Report Loss Is $60,000, No Serious Injuries Known, Firemen Do Fine Work

(International News Service)

BRISTOL, Pa., June 1.—Summoning all available apparatus, a $60,000 fire today destroyed the interior of the French-Wold Paint company plant, in the heart of one of Bristol's industrial areas.

Firemen brought the blaze under control after nearly two hours work and kept the flames from spreading to silk, aluminum, ink, aircraft and other factories located nearby.

No one was injured seriously, but thousands of Bristol residents rushed to the scene as dense clouds of smoke, rolling from the paint-fed flames, rose over the Delaware river wanterfront nearby.

Fillmore Gosline, a fireman, became the only casualty when he suffered cuts on the hand from glass.

The two-story brick paint plant, located on the old Harriman tract, was unoccupied when the flames broke out, company officials said. Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

PITTSBURGH, June 1.—An unemployed Bakerstown road farmer, believed deranged, shot and killed the mother of his 12 children last midnight after a quarrel, then committed suicide with the same rifle, county detectives reported today.

Frank Nolder, 54, and his wife, Bessie, also 54, were the principals in the shooting, which occurred in their home about a half-mile from Warrendale. Only 10 days ago, police said, Mrs. Nolder had her husband released from a psychopathic ward against the advice of her family.

President May Not Be Able To Attend Dinner

"Big Business" Dinner Is Scheduled At White House Tonight

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1—Big business is going to dine at the White House tonight, but a bad cold may keep President Roosevelt from taking his place at the head of the table.

Members of the business advisory council will be the White House guests, shephered by Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins who launched the now famous New Deal business "appeasement" program shortly after joining the cabinet.

On advice of his physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the president remained in bed today with a bad cold complicated by sinus trouble which Mr. Roosevelt suffered on several occasions this spring.

The president had less than a degree of temperature, Admiral McIntire said, but it was advisable that he remain in bed to rest.

If the physician permits, Mr. Roosevelt will act as host to the business council tonight. If not, then Secretayr Hopkis will preside. In the latter case, the White House's business guests would be presented to Mr. Roosevelt in his private study either before or after dinner.

Russo-British French Entente Plans Delayed

Soviet Official Reply To Be Along Line Of Premier's Speech Yesterday

BRITISH PROPOSALS ARE NOT ACCEPTED

Officials Confer In Britain On Further Steps As Result Of Situation

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 1.—Crystallization of a Russo-British-French entente faded further into the future today as Soviet embassy sources said the official Moscow reply to the proposals of London and Paris would be just as uncompromising as yesterday's speech of Premier Vyacheslav Molotov.

Russians in London indicated the reply might be forthcoming before this week-end. It will not be a flat negative, embassy spokesmen said, but it will insist emphatically that no triple alliance can be sealed until neutrality and independence of Russia's baltic neighbors are guaranteed, as Molotov demanded.

Difficult Problem

This presents an extremely difficult problem for the British and French, since Lithuania, Estonia, and Latvia are vigorously opposed to accepting any such guarantee in fear of offending Germany or risking Soviet encroachments.

Moscow's demand on this score, it was believed in Soviet and British quarters, inevitably will delay an agreement for a long time.

While rushing to repair the diplomatic damage wrought by Russia's refusal to enter a triple entente save on Moscow's own terms, Britain today watched closely lest Germany use the situation to bound towards fresh expansion.

Recommend Dam In Allegheny River Below Warren, Pa.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 1.—United States army engineers in the Pittsburgh district today were awaiting congressional action on a report submitted by Maj. Gen. Julian L. Schley recommending construction of a reservoir on the Allegheny river below Warren, Pa.

The dam, designed for flood protection, would cost an estimated $35,700,000. Located 200 miles from the mouth of the Allegheny river, it is designed to control floods and reduce river pollution, with a possible hydro-electric plant.

The proposed reservoir would be larger than first contemplated. Specifically, it would be located on the present site of the Seneca-Cornplanter Indian reservation, with whom federal authorities are dickering over the proposed inundation of their land.

King And Queen Are Seeking Rest

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROYAL PILOT TRAIN, ENROUE JASPER, Alberta, June 1 — Canada's King and Queen begged for mercy today. The 24 hour shift of the last two weeks has finally gotten them down and from the Royal train came a message asking if the populace would be so kind as to come around during office hours from 10 a. m. to dark and be seen.

It seems their Majesties would like to sleep. Canada is a large and beautiful country and its people are grand—the King and Queen have said so but they will still like to catch some sleep.

No matter what time it is in China it is always time in Canada to come down to the tracks and wave to the King and Queen. There is a popular belief in the land that the Royal couple came over for the purpose of riding an observation platform, standing up, from coast to coast and return.

It is a sincere and hearty belief and their Majesties are highly gratified. They do not question the love and devotion which prompts people to stage two a. m. welcome parties with brass bands, pipers, red fire and noisemakers but there is some question as to how many hours at one standing they can keep smiling through.

Report Allies Of Bank Robbers Seen Digging On Jefferson Co. Farm

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 1.—F.B.I. agents in the Pittsburgh district office remained uncommunicative today as they investigated reports that allies of a convicted bank robber were seen digging on a Jefferson county farm, possibly in search of part of the loot from the Clintonville, Pa., bank robbery last October 14.

United States Marshal John Sloan, of Clarion, said he recognized Mrs. James Murray, wife of a 52-year-old Chicagoan convicted recently in Pittsburgh federal court as one of the Clintonville bandits, when he drove past the Williamson farm outside of Brookville.

With her were two men, both busily engaged in spading the ground. He said he hurried on to Brookville, picked up two local officers and returned to the scene but the diggers had fled. It was believed the men and their companion left in a car bearing an Illinois license.

Opposition To Single Term Proposal

G. O. P. Leaders Not Enthused

Senator Vandenberg Suggests Candidate For President Pledge To One Term

WOULD RUN ON SUCH A PLEDGE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Vandenberg proposal, that the 1940 Republican presidential nominee pledge himself to a single term has provoked stiff opposition behind the G. O. P. scenes, it was learned today.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, made the suggestion, while announcing his own willingness to accept the G. O. P. nomination in 1940 on such a pledge. He said a "prepledged one-term president is manifestly free of all incentive but the job of saving America."

Some Support

His proposal developed some editorial and political support but it drew biting criticism from Republican leaders behind the scenes. Critics of the plan say Vandenberg has injected a new, but unimportant and irritating issue into the Republican picture at a time when the G. O. P. is trying to concentrate the country's attention on conditions arising from the new deal.

One of the most prominent Republicans on Capitol Hill observed:

"Van is hunting around for an issue that interests nobody, when there are dozens of major issues challenging us on every side. Who is concerned about a second term? Who is worrying about a second term? Who cares a damn about it? Certainly not the farmer, nor the laborer, nor the little business man.

"George Washington took a second term. Thomas Jefferson took a second term. And every other man who ever entered the White House would take a second term if he could get it."

SENIORS ENJOY CLASS DAY PROGRAM

master of ceremonies for a portion of the program, and introduced Betty Lee Raney. Miss Raney, having found a diary dropped by one of the guests on arriving at the hotel, traced the history of the class since its entrance to the school.

Following the leadership of Betty Jane Spangler, the seniors sang their official class song to the tune of "Deep Purple". The song was written by Miss Spangler. Senior A orchestra, under the direction of Bob Evans, played various selections at appropriate times throughout the program.

Traditional axe presentation ceremony was performed at which time Merritt Reynolds, president of the graduating group, turned over to James Hewitt, Senior B president, the ribbon ladden implement.

Double Quartet

Eight seniors, attired as waiters for the hotel, provided the audience with their version of "Tavern In the Town". The double quartet was comprised of John Walzer, Andy Palmer, Tony Piccuta, Dick Buchanan, Jack Gaston, Carmen Perro, Walter Mumyak and Cy Schaller.

"Nursery Rhyme Blues" was sung by a girls trio, including Jean Miller, Hazel Emery and Martha McCluskey, accompanied by Jean Chapman at the piano.

Elise Ridley made a haughty but amusing entrance into the hotel elevator on the way to her room. With this customer taken care of, Manager Matthews again entered with Prophetess Doris Leddy, who offered to tell the fortunes of the guests.

Rolling to the center of the stage on roller skates, Marian Shaffer presented a skate tap dance to the tune of "On the Sidewalks of New York", played by Billy Earl at the piano.

June Wilson, Emma Schuller and Ruby Lee Jones were called upon for songs in between the presentation of various tableaus. Those taking part in the tableaus were Margaret Mitchell, Sophie Malihoutsaki, Audrey McIlvenny, Betty Haas, Jack Gaston, Richard Wallace, Tom Wilcox, Ed Allen, Ed Francis, Willard Tanney, Ray Kelly, Roland Mortimer, Louis Finch, John Harmer and Fred Deep.

Other Features

Everett Hoffman demonstrated his sketching ability, after which Jane Elliott sang "And the Angels Sing". "Honeysuckle Rose" was played by Bob Evans, Don Appolito and Merritt Reynolds, comprising an instrumental trio.

Joe Ross, class attorney, presented the last will and testament of the 396 seniors. In this reading, he left everything leaveable to some member of the lower class in the school.

A selection from the song band composed of Hazel Sheehy, Edna Sheaffer, Frances Davis, Cornelia Ambrus, Naomi Pitzer and Elise Ridley entitled "There's a Hole In the Old Oaken Bucket", was enjoyed.

The stage was cleared, the lights dimmed and the class knocker, Joe Paluszak, appeared garbed as the hotel janitor. Following the reading of his exacting comments, the class joined in singing the second class song written by Billy Earl, to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne".

At the conclusion of the program the seniors loaded into waiting cars at the school's door and motored to Stoughton's Beach, where the seniors are frolicking this afternoon. Miss Helena Stevenson is the supervisor for this graduating class. Officers include: President, Merritt Reynolds; vice president, Carl Shearer; treasurer, William Rowland, and secretary, Susanne Flick.

SOVIET AWAITS NEW MOVES FOR TRIPLE ENTENTE

made the vague threat of a Russo-German reapprochement, when he said that trade negotiatnons with the Reich, momentarily interrupted, "May be Resumed."

Resentment over the tactics of the British, doubt over Premier Chamberlain's shift from a policy of appeasement to one of "stop Hitler" allowances, and resentment of apparent attempts of the Democracies to shove the U. S. S. R. into the position of a secondary poer provided some of the explosives in Molotov's bombshell.

Objects To Several Provisions

The Anglo-French proposals, Molotov explained, contained several proposals which might render a triple alliance ineffective. Chief was linking of mutual assistance to the sanctions provisions of the League of Nations covenant.

The foreign commissar said the Soviet union insists on a pact exclusively of a defensive character, which will guarantee all neighbors of the Soviet union, and embody a concrete agreement for neutral help if one of the signatories is attacked.

Negitiations with Britain continue, he went on, "but we insist on our point of view.

"Aggressors recognized long ago that Soviet foreign policy is directed against aggression, but the Democratic countries only lately admitted this. Changes in the British attitude were noted recently. Therefore we accepted Britain's offers for negitiations."

But, he pointed out in a reference to British and French foreign policy: "it is impossible to say now whether they seriously wish to end aggression. They may wish to direct aggression into other channels. That is why we must be vigilant."

Joseph Stalin and other leaders—including former Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov—joined in long applause when Molotov said that Russia insisted on absolute international equality. "Our place is in the front rank among the powers," he declared.

Adolph says a propaganda slogan should appeal to the emotions, be short, and be endlessly repeated. Something, for instance, like "White supremacy?"

ington and New York lay ahead for the last half and perhaps the most hectic of their tour.

The conservation program begins to day at Jasper with nothing more important on the program than for their Magesties to inspect the attractions of this wonderland which nature turned out complete with hot springs and cold ice fields.

Here, for the entire day and until late tomorrow morning, the King will relax, inspecting ice fields, cariboo and the rest of natures attractions.

From Vancouver to Jasper, there were only two short stops on their Majesties program.

At New Westminster, named by Queen Victoria in 1859 when its founders could not agree whether to call it Queensborough or Queenborough, the King and Queen drove in procession under 28 decorative arches erected by civic and patriotic groups.

They paused briefly at Queens Park where 11,000 school children of surrounding communities had gathered to serenade them and took part in a pretty May festival in which Queen Elizabeth had competition.

Seated on the platform with her Majesty and the King, was the May Queen of the community schools and both queens reviewed a May pole dance with 3,000 children taking part.

The second stop was at Chilliwack where local officials were presented to their Majesties.

From Chilliwack on, the King and Queen could rest except when rest was interrupted to make an appearance for another delegation of rail side watchers.

the Townsend plan in the last election, "on the spot," some Republican leaders joined hands in an effort to crush the movement and remove it from the next national election campaign.

The bill of Rep. Hendricks (D) Florida, which was rejected, called for the buying of a transaction or gross income tax. The tax was estimated to raise several billions of dollars a year, and to pay pensions of from $40 to $70 a month, with $200 a month as the ultimate goal.

Fail To Evade Vote

Angered at failure of the ways and means committee to make a definite recommendation on the bill and assailing the "gag" rule which prohibited amendments, a group of members sought to recommit the bill to committee. This maneuver, however, failed, and the house faced the music on the final vote.

Rep. Treadway of Massachusetts, ranking Republican on the ways and means committee made the motion to recommit. The motion instructed the ways and means committee to report back a workable old-age pension bill on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the old-age pension leader, who left his post as physician in Long Beach, Calif., to rise to the head of an organization claiming millions of adherents, sat in the gallery as the bill was crushed an avalanche of votes.

REPORT ALLIES OF ROBBERS ARE SEEN DIGGING ON FARM

held, was with the other armed men when the Clintonville bank was stuck up and close to $117,000 taken. Most of this, about $112,000, was recovered in a cache in Enon Valley, Lawrence county, when F.B.I. agents were led to the spot by George Slade, a prisoner in Atlanta penitentiary who pleaded guilty in the Clintonville case.

The recovered loot was mostly in securities. That yet missing is cash and a diamond ring.

A third man, Joseph Dorsch, an inmate of Joliet prison, Ill., will stand trial in the fall as the other indicted robber.

Mrs. Fred Williamson, owner of the farm, reportedly told officers that the men appeared last Saturday night and after showing her credentials purporting they were post office inspectors, requested permission to dig on her property.

This was granted and the men started to work. They were still hunting furiously when Sloan drove by. F.B.I. agents in Pittsburgh took up the search immediately after the alarm was sounded.

THE NEWS, BY MAIL, 1 YEAR, $5.

Europe needn't worry about us. With all of us raiding the Treasury and the debt piling higher and higher, we'll soon have the nation handcuffed and helpless.

The whole story is that Germany and Italy, being the youngest of strong nations, didn't get organized until land stealing had gone out of fashion.

Propagandists tell us that all nations are equally wicked. They mean that some are as wicked as others used to be.

NATIONAL UNITY MUST STILL BE PROTECTED

THE plea made at Gettysburg for the preservation of American unity and the protection of democratic principles of government was the more noteworthy in that it came from the first southerner ever to deliver the Memorial Day address at the historic battlefield, Senator Harry A. Byrd, of Virginia.

Sectional hatred between the states no longer menaces this nation, welded into a powerful entity in the blazing fires of the tragic Civil War. But, as Senator Byrd pointed out, there are other perils besetting the country which must be met if America is to fulfill its great destiny.

Racial and religious prejudices; social and industrial injustices; monopolistic combinations that unfairly raise the cost of living—these, as the Virginia Senator rightly contended, are enemies of democracy.

Hardly less so are governmental practices that oppress private enterprise, discourage the maintenance of law and order, pile up intolerable taxes and retard recovery and re-employment. Such practices, along with the growth of bureaucracy, tend to restrict the liberties created by democratic rule.

If the trend toward federal centralization is questionable from the standpoint of the nation's welfare, directly inimical are subversive activities of alien "isms" which strike at the foundations of constitutional government. Against underground and foreign machinations the people should be on their guard.

The rights and privileges of Americans have been hard won through many years. But they are not proof against destruction. Their protection demands constant vigilance and unfaltering courage. Democracy througout the world has its back to the wall. Unless the people of this country are determined to keep their own democratic system nobody will defend it for them.

THRIFTY, DESPITE DEPRESSION YEARS

Prof. Donald H. Davenport of the Harvard School of Business estimates that the cash savings of our people, in spite of a decade of unprecedented depression, are at a peak of $9,000,000,000.

This vast sum just about equals the total earnings of the nation in an average year. It is perhaps one-fifth of our natural wealth.

In this estimate are the savings bank depositors, funds of building and loan associations, life insurance policies, credits of old-age pension systems, and so on. Our personal wealth, our homes, furniture, etc., are not included.

It would allow $530 for every man, woman and child, if it were evenly divided.

Evidently we are still a thrifty nation, in spite of many appearances to the contrary.

WORTHY WAR ON TREE BLIGHTS

With the trees now coming into full spring-time foliage, the increasing havoc being spread by the Dutch elm disease in this species, in so many ways linked to American traditions and history, is again being surveyed by government foresters.

This still mysterious fungus disease threatens extinction of all elm trees, much as the chestnut tree has almost vanished, due to its own odd plight. Dr. E. A. Richmond, entomologist of Pennsylvania State College, also points out that elm leaf beetles have increased this spring, threatening defoliation and eventual death of elm trees.

The PWA recently allocated $527,000 to fight the Dutch elm disease, and a similar campaign is conducted by the United States Forest Service.

Disappearance of the chestnut tree has provided an object lesson which should not be ignored. The tree-saving movement merits the full public co-operation which eradication of the blights requires.

MODERN BORGIAS

In the beginning, Philadelphia's mass murder case defied credulity. Surely, many readers of the amazing circumstances believed, the whole business was some sort of a weird phantasy. Twenty-four persons were under arrest, an undisclosed number under suspicion, more than forty listed as murdered, expectations that the list might pass 100, and ramifications extending into four neighboring states. The whole story had all of the evidences of a strange fabric woven by an imaginative mind.

But it is not fiction, but truth, and it recalls in its fiendishness and ingenuity the notable performances of the Borgias of medieval Rome, Locusta of ancient Rome, Tofano of old Naples and the Marquise de Brinvilliers of the Seventeenth Century France. One man was found guilty and has since confessed to taking part in twelve other murders and knowing of nine more. A woman stopped her trial to scream out her guilt. Three more pleaded guilty and seven others were arraigned for trial. Husbands, sons and friends were sacrificed by these human monstrosities, all for financial profit. Death reaped a rich harvest. And so, too, will the law.

The Human Side Of The News

In this season, when the straw hat comes close to the wake of the departing Vernal Equinox, and adds its light, summery touch to beach resort and pavement alike, we take a moment to reflect upon its antiquity, tradition and lore. For the straw "Katy" goes a long way back in time and has a curious history.

There is, for instance, in the famous Luton (Eng.) Museum, the picture of a tomb in Syria existing about 500 years B. C., showing a fairly natty number a-tilt on a fellow going about his plowing. And it was Shakespeare in "The Tempest" (no place for a straw hat) who penned one of the first straw hat slogans: "Get thy strawen of brown and make merry—"

Today the aristocrats of the straw hat are the Monecristans of Northern Ecuador, whose most charming and most skilled envoy is Carmen Delgado. She comes to the Ecuador Pavilion at the World's Fair to show visitors how and why her little community has become famous the world over.

In the Montecristan district of 3,000 persons, tradition and heredity have been woven into every product. For "woman is to the weaving born". Miss Delgado's mother and grandmother before her were

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PROMOTE CHILD OR NOT

Throughout the United States there is a wide practice of promoting school children on probation. Accordingly, the child is promoted to the next grade with the understanding that he will be demoted to the grade from which he was promoted if, after a few weeks the next fall, he does not, in the judgment of the teacher, prove able to do the regular work of that grade.

The ignominy of demotion! To any one it is apparent that the disgrace of being demoted is many times worse than that of failing promotion.

In a few instances, of course, promotion on probation works very well, serving as an effective spur to the child's effort. Yet, in most instances it only becomes a Sword of Damocles hanging over the child's head. The failing child, therefore, may be reminded ever so many times at home during the summer that unless he "works hard enough," he will be put back next year. Then, with the opening of school, this threat may haunt him constantly, both from his teacher and parents. Why expose the child to such needless torture

A Better Way

A better way is to promote the child or not promote him. Let each teacher, in considering the promotion, ask herself whether the child will get on better, in the long run, in the next higher grade or in the present one. If the teacher he will have will have him do only what he can succeed at, he should be promoted, even though his work in the present grade is far below the standard. But if it is known that the teacher of the next higher grade will have him do the standard work of that grade, the child properly may, if he lags far back in the present grade, be left where he is for the next term.

Fortunately, there are more and more teachers from year to year who give the child to learn only what he can learn successfully, in which event most children can properly pass on with those of about their own age.

May Be Tutored

Suppose Bruce Barco has not nearly measured up to the standard of the sixth grade and is not promoted this June. What hope has he to get into the seventh grade next fall?

If he attends summer school or is tutored, his achievement could be checked by the principal or her representative in September. Then, in case he can prove he is ready to enter the seventh grade. The psychology of promotion is vastly different from that of demotion.

But what kind of success shall it be?"

"I've chosen for you," said his dad,
"The stiffest career to be had—
An auditor's lot

It's ideal for a brilliant young grad."

"Not that," cried the youth growing pale,
"Not while present hysterics prevail.

A man and woman had been partners in a vaudeville act for years. At last the woman died. A short time after her funeral the survivor of the act met a friend, who spoke about the sad event.

"I guess the passing of your partner was a great loss to you," he said, "but I never realized what a blow it was until I saw how you took it."

"Where did you see me, at the church or cemetery?" asked the actor.

"At the church."

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

There is much truth in this retort I heard the other day from a poor housemaid: "I ain't never had time to have no nervous breakdown."

One of my friends who has been an almost bedfast invalid for five years was lately cured by her husband's death and the consequent necessity for going to work.

There is an old saying that everyone fears death but the dying and I would put it in another way: Those who have real diseases seldom complain of them. I know a gluttonous woman who for 20 years has enslaved a whole family with fear of her "heart" whose discomfort, I feel sure, has been due to flatulence rather than any organic disease.

Reader's Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel—When I send out my graduation invitations may I send one addressed to an entire family? My number of invitations is limited. GRAD.

Answer—"And family" invitations are not in the best taste. A separate invitation should be sent to each member of a household. But I know how valuable commencement invitations are. If it is really necessary for you to economize and the family is large, you may send one invitation to "Mr. and Mrs.," another to "Misses Smith" and a third to "Messrs. Smith."

AUTOMATA

How trivial we humans seem
Who rush along life's trail
Intent upon some selfish scheme
That proves of no avail . . .
While mountains cleave the sky's vast beam
And trees the stars impale!

Why do we seek for happiness
In wealth and pomp . . . or fame,
Unmindful of the loveliness
That glows in sunset's flame
When earth and sea and sky caress
Farewell till morrow's game?

Why struggle on this narrow way..
Automatons of fate,
If we shall miss the robin's lay
When calling to his mate,
Nor hear the rippling waters play
Where day-dreams lie in wait?

Would earthly progress cease to be
If we should change our roles
And be the folk we'd like to be
With utmost good our goals . . .
Implanting in posterity
God's purpose for our souls?

Dies Committee Hasn't Proved Much Prominent Individuals Not Linked Most Agitators Are Small Bore Ones

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

CONGRESSMAN MARTIN DIES' committee on investigation of un-American activities in this country has uncovered considerable evidence of Nazi-istic, Fascistic and Communistic propaganda throughout the United States, but it's noteworthy that it hasn't linked the names of any very prominent individuals with racially or religious intolerant philosophies in our national midst.

For instance, the attempt to identify Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton with anti-Semitism fizzled the minute the G. O. P. manager was put on the Dies committee's witness stand. Hamilton not only denied the suggestion of bigotry on his part, but he did it mighty convincingly by recalling that he was opposed, as a highly influential Republican, to the gubernatorial candidacy of the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod in last year's Republican primaries in Kansas—and he opposed the clergyman-aspirant as an intolerant. Hamilton also reminded the investigators that his "first campaign in public life was marked by opposition to the Ku Klux Klan." All this is of record, too. The chairman only had to remind the committee of it to prove his case conclusively.

Thomas E. Dewey, while actually running for governor of New York against Governor Herbert H. Lehman, a Jew, specifically notified the electorate that he wanted no votes cast on racial or religious grounds. It would be hard to be more convincing than that.

Religion did figure in the Herbert Hoover-Al Smith campaign, but I never heard either Hoover or Al accused of trying to capitalize it.

Small Bore Agitators

From talks I've had with members of the Dies committee I gather that they generally regard our "ism" propagandists as small caliber fanatics or prominence-seekers, who probably never would have been heard of by name but for the notoriety they're receiving now.

The question arises:

Why advertise 'em at all?

The inquisitors' answer is that this advertising is unfavorable; makes 'em ridiculous. And otherwise, the inquisitors say, some one of the bunch might, by a fluke, develop into a Hitler, a Mussolini or a Stalin—or cause a lot of trouble, at least.

I'm skeptical, but who knows?

About the only really eminent American I ever heard of, as a member of one of our intolerant groups, is Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black, who admits that he did join the K. K. K. But he did it perfunctorily, as an ordinary secret society—when he was young and innocent, and the K. K. K., I suppose, was comparatively mild. From remarks he subsequently has made I gather that he wishes he never had done it at all.

They Occur Periodically

These set-ups develop periodically.

The first one I ever heard of was the original post-Civil war K. K. K.

There may have been earlier ones. I don't know. Anyway, the initial K. K. K., in the reconstruction period, was understandable. In due course it blew up. After an interval there followed the Know Nothings. I can almost but not quite remember when then Senator Allen G. Thurman of Ohio could almost have been presidentially nominated, if he hadn't previously been a Know Nothing, which previously had frazzled, leaving him out on a limb.

Still later (I recall it well) the American Protective Association (principally anti-Catholic) made its appearance. Having married a Catholic girl, I wasn't eligible.

Right after the World war, up popped the second K. K. K.

That, likewise, is several years gone into the long beyond.

Today we have Nazi-ism, Fasism and Communism. I suspect that they're transitory, too.

WISH FOR FRIEND DEPARTING

This I say when friends depart:
Happy go the loyal heart!
Gentle be the winds that blow,
Near and far may blossoms grow.
Luck attend and fortune smile,
Gladness shorten every mile.
Should you come to doubt or fear,
May the fairies good draw near.

Blue the sky and calm the sea;
May your welcomes laughing be.
Safe arrival, town or port,
Pleasures long and trials short,
May all strangers, as you roam,
Be like friends you leave at home
And may wave and wing and track
Take and bring you safely back.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Why The Radicals Win

WASHINGTON, June 1.

A CURIOUS and really basic fact about the Roosevelt Administration is that while within the Roosevelt circle of counselors there is always a conservative element and a radical element, and while the struggle between them never ceases, it is invariably the radicals who win.

AS TO THE truth of this statement every detached observer will agree. It's been true from start of the New Deal and it probably will continue true until the finish. What makes it stranger still is that the radical White House victories are generally won after the initial position of the President has been taken on the conservative side. That has happened again and again—so often, in fact, that it has become almost recognized routine. Even a casual review of the record will substantiate this statement.

WHAT happens is this—his conversative and extremely loyal aides first sell the President what they regard as a sound idea. He appears receptive and even enthusiastic. He permits publicity and there is a warm response. Word goes out that a "breathing spell" is to be had, or that no more experiments are to be made, or that the President is "turning Right", or that tax revision so as to remove business handicaps is approved. For some time the conservatives are elated. Reform is to give place to recovery as the prime Administration objective.

AND then the bright young men of the radical group go into action. In a very short while they succeed not only in cooling the President off on the conservative proposals, but turning him in the other direction. Instance after instance can be recalled. This year, for example, there was, first, the swing away from the widely advertised "business appeasement" campaign of Mr. Hopkins, and, second, the scuttling of the Morgenthau-Hanes tax revision plan saved only by the assertiveness of Senator Harrison and the fact that for the President to continue hostile meant the passage of a bill which, however much he disliked it, he would be compelled to sign anyway.

THERE has been considerable speculation as to why in every contest of this kind the Left Wing White House advisers always triumph in the end. It is difficult to explain. Certainly, it is not because Mr. Roosevelt is congenitally a radical. Actually, his first personal inclination is generally toward the conservative side, and in private conversation his conservative friends, in and out of the Administration, often find him in agreement—or, at least, think they do. Yet, when the time for action comes, he invariably swings toward the radical side. There are two ways to account for this—both of them based on emotional rather than reasoning Presidential reactions.

FOR ONE thing, Mr. Roosevelt is distinctly resentful toward businessmen generally. He thinks—and with truth—that most of them have been against him since the first pump-priming effort of 1933. His real feeling was revealed in that extraordinary New York 1936 speech in which, in effect, he said that in his first term business men had met their match," but in his second they would "meet their master". In the second place he has a strong personal dislike for a number of businessmen whom he regards in much the same way he regards those Democratic Senators like Byrd and Bailey, George, Glass, Tydings and King who dissent from the New policies and attack New Deal spending.

IT is very difficult for him to bring himself to do anything that could be construed as a concession to these businessmen. He abhors the thought that he could be put in position of admitting that he was wrong and they right. This is a human and understandable feeling but it is none the less unfortunate in the head of a great nation. Unquestionably it is the thing that gives the little radical group group its big advantage. The "intellectual liberals" as they like to be called, play on it with great skill. They point out that his "liberal" friends will feel that he has surrendered to the "forces of reaction".

A FAVORITE plea of the Left Wing group and to which Mr. Roosevelt always responds is not to "let the people down". All this may seem to make of the President a man who can be prevented from exercising his best judgment by appeals to unworthy prejudices. There is certainly some basis for that belief but it should be said in fairness that there is more to it than that. In this group of young radicals by whom he is surrounded are not only some extremely clever men but men who are exceedingly attractive as well. Moreover, they are completely devoted to him—as they should be. Sincere, loyal and plausible, the President gets an enjoyment out of their company which no conservative affords. It is not a secret that his conservative aides personally bore him. And, it must be admitted, that some of them, though sound, are dull. Add all these things up and the total perhaps explains why, in the seven years of Mr. Roosevelt's incumbency, his radical advisers have not lost one real battle. At any rate, such are the facts.

Men At Meeting Make Protest On W.P.A. Layoffs

Workers Alliance Meeting Is Held At Court House Last Night

Protesting against the layoffs on the WPA, about 100 workers of the WPA gathered in the court house Wednesday night under the auspices of the Workers Alliance. President Joe Booth acted as chairman of the evening.

After a few brief remarks by Mr. Booth, J. Dolsen of the Allegheny County Workers was introduced. He spoke at considerable length but confined himself more to the activities of the recent Legislature and to acts now before Congress.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath spoke briefly, outling the projects sponsored by the city. The mayor said he was more interested in aiding conditions here than he was in what was going on in Congress.

John Bosley, of Ellwood City, spoke and dwelt at some length upon the activities of organized labor.

Thomas Hanlon was named as the delegate to the Right--To-Work Congress which will be held shortly in Washington, D. C. He spoke briefly and made a plea for funds to defray the expenses of the trip to Washington.

A resolution of protest against the layoffs was passed.

SOUNDINGS TO BE TAKEN TO LOCATE SUNKEN TREASURE

PARIS, June 1.—Soundings will shortly be taken of the Seine River near Quilleboeuf Lighthouse to locate the hulk of the treasure ship Telemaque.

The vessel foundered during the French Revolution while enroute to England with large quantities of gold and silver bullion, various precious French historical and artistic objects and a fabulous necklace belonging to Marie Antoinette.

The right to salvage the vessel was won by an English company at a state auction last year. The state, however, retained 80 per cent of the value of all treasure recovered under the contract.

COLLEGE GRADS HAVE BEST CHANCE

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 1—Prospects for the college graduate are pretty good today.

That is what William Slater, headmaster of Adelphi Academy, Brooklyn, N. Y., told the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs in revealing a survey made of men and women who had graduated from college between 1928 and 1935. He added that:

1. Ninety-five per cent of them are employed; three-fifths of them have never been out of work, and only two per cent ever have been on relief.

2. Two-thirds found jobs in their chosen fields.

DUTIES OF VICE PRESIDENT

The vice president is president of the senate but has no vote except when there is a tie. He also presides at the joint sessions of congress when electoral votes are counted. He succeeds to the presidency in case of the death of the president, his resignation or removal from office, but there is no provision for the filling of a vacant vice presidency.

for a conference with his foreign office colleagues on the next steps to meet the demands set forth by Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign commissar. Molotov called for flat automatic guarantees of mutual aid, without any League of Nations encumbrances, and protection for Russia's western neighbors.

Italy and Germany regarded Molotov's speech in the Kremlin as one of the most severe blows Democratic diplomacy has received in months. This attitude on the part of the powers against which the entente would be directed raised the fear in some quarters that Chancellor Hitler would regard further bickering as an opportunity to precipitate another crisis.

Matter Of Form

The general opinion in British government quarters, however, was that Anglo-Soviet differences were ones of form, rather than substance.

It was felt that the Kremlin already was committed in principle to a pact against possible Fascist aggression, with only the final bargaining details to be completed.

Russia's final reply to the Anglo-French proposals—a reply more concrete than Molotov's speech—is still expected in London within a few days in the form of a diplomatic note.

The next task of Britain and France will be to find a formula which will (1) eradicate Soviet fears that London and Paris will leave Moscow "holding the bag"; (2) pledge protection to the Baltic nations; and (3) salve Russia's injured pride—wounded especially when the Soviet union was left out of the four-power Munich conference which decided Czecho-Slovakia's fate.

Opinions Differ

Unless the Soviets were in earnest about joining the front against Germany and Italy, it was asked in London, why did Molotov let negotiations progress as far as they did, and permit the democracies' hopes to rise to high?

France shared Britain's optimism. A communication was expected from Moscow today through diplomatic channels, and it was felt that Russia's demands regarding both the Baltic and the league could be overcome.

Berlin quarters, on the other hand, remarked gleefully: "Britain has received a sharp set-back—nothing remains but a fictional paper pact."

Molotov's reference in his speech to the possible revival of Russo-German trade negotiations created another haunting fear in some British circles—that Russia was still hesitating between alignment with Britain or Germany.

weavers. She herself one day will marry a weaver and her daughters will be weavers.

The folk of Montecriste are indeed poor but proud. A hat that brings a weaver $50 (probably to sell at $150 in the United States) takes about five months to make. The work is done at home, and the entire family (except papa) participates. Miss Carmen has been weaving since she was two years of age.

That she is at the World's Fair is something of a miracle to her sisterhood. No one can remember a girl ever leaving the community to go to the outside world, and certainly none ever left to demonstrate the native craft. They rarely venture more than a few miles from their villages. Manta, a busy little seaport, about two miles away, keeps them in touch — along with the movies — with the outside world. There they see tourists arriving in "store clothes", but it is beyond the wildest dream of any native to conceive herself in such marvelous garments.

Hence, an adventure such as no Montecriste girl ever dared contemplate came to pass for Carmen when she found herself in the bargain basement of a New York store. With her was a list of "things to do" given her by her friends when she left. They all asked for "store clothes", but they really don't expect to get them.

Carmen, transplanted into a new world, at first missed the cocoanut shells which a weaver traditionally keeps at hand to moisten her fingers so that the Toquilla palm stands may be kept pliant. To give you some idea, when a hat is getting its finishing touches as many as a thousand fibres of straw may be involved. The weaving begins with 40 strands and the number is increased until a spot, about the size of a silver dollar, has been made. Then experts examine it very closely, for once this spot is woven, the hat can never again be changed. The girls work from 6 to 10 in the morning and from 4 to 6 in the evening. In the interval, the heat is such that the straw could not stand it, even if the weaver could.

So Carmen brings, along with her skill and expertness, something of a curious lesson to the thousands of girls who will watch her—that is, pride in fine achievement over all other factors; the symbolic weaving of family and native life into each article of handicraft. It can't keep pace with the machines, but it reveals a standing item in the Human Side of the News—patient creativeness which is woven through the fabric of civilization, with or without machines.

In a few skulls, vernally ensconced in new straw top-pieces, there will be speculation as to whether the machine eventually will kill the "instinct of workmanship". We're betting it won't. In all dream lore, weaving is destiny.

RURAL RESIDENTS STAY HOME SUNDAYS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Rural Pennsylvania motorists are not fond of "Sunday driving."

According to a survey made by the U. S. bureau of public roads and released by the Keystone Automobile Club of Philadelphia, it was found that the average trip taken by autoists living in the country was 9.8 miles.

Residents of cities of over 100,000 population, however, took journeys which averaged 30.8 miles, the report said.

Arizona Posse Member Makes Brief Stop Here

One Of Captors Of Irene Schroeder And Glen Dague Here Today

"Desert" Al Rhodes, a hard bitten placer prospector of Arizona, dropped into the office of the News today and for a time the Schroeder-Dague case was recalled. Rhodes was one of the six men of Sheriff Charles Wright's posse who captured Irene and Glen in the Estrella mountains in January 1930. With him were Leon Sundust, the Indian, Jack Carter, Oscar Roberts, George Pruitt and Hans Coor.

At the time of the capture, Rhodes was a deputy-sheriff. Following Sheriff Wright's leaving the office Rhodes went prospecting and the copper hue of his face testifies to his days in the desert sun.

He is on his way back to Phoenix, Arizona after a visit to New York where he met Mayor Fiorella La Guardia. The mayor visited Arizona some time ago and invited the Arizonians to return the call. Rhodes did, travelling by motor.

WALKERS URGED TO FACE TRAFFIC

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Many highway accidents would be avoided by pedestrians if they "walked facing traffic" along highways, a safety bulletin from the Keystone Automobile Club asserts.

An increase in highway accidents involving pedestrians around this time of year usually takes place because fine weather brings out a greater number of walkers and motorists, the bulletin added.

"Pedestrians have it well within their power to avoid accident on the highway by taking the simple precaution of facing, instead of walking with their backs to oncoming traffic," the club warned.

Miss Bronx

Lee Sherwood

A 17-year-old high school girl, Lee Sherwood, walked off with the trophy for the most beautiful girl in New York's Bronx, besting twenty-five contestants in the Garden Court of the Ford exposition, and will compete against the beauty queens of other boroughs for the title of Miss World's Fair.

EUROPEAN RATTLE SNAKES

Viper snakes, apart from several characteristics, are the European version of our rattlers. The common vipers are small, less than two feet long, but make up in pugnacity what they lack in size. Their bite isn't deadly—if it's taken care of immediately, says the Washington Post. More dangerous than the common viper is its larger kin, the sandnatter. These reptiles, two feet long and more, are even more vicious than the common vipers. They don't like moisture, lie for hours sunning themselves on warm sands.

AROUND CITY HALL

During council meeting in the city building today council elected Thomas Boyles, Phillip Benninghoff, George A. Rigby and Nick Cubellis as temporary police officers. They will serve 10 days, each. The recommendations were presented by Mayor Charles E. McGrath.

Payrolls of city officials and employes were approved today, the officials to receive their May pay and the employes their salary for the last half of May on June 5.

G. G. Horchler, representing the Seventh ward, this morning, asked council during the meeting at city hall to pave Cherry street soon. He said heavy traffic occurs on the thoroughfare between 6 a. m., and 6 p. m. daily. The original request was for paving between the P. R. R. and the Shenango river. The petition was changed to read between the P. R. R. and Prescott street. There is a majority in property-owners and front footage between the railroad and Prescott street but not between the railroad and Shenango river. Council took the request under advisement.

Speeding is seen on paved cross-town streets nightly in North Hill section, according to reports. Some time ago Police Chief Ralph A. Criswell issued a warning that speeding would result in arrests. So far not many arrests have been made either because the autoists do not speed when cruiser cars are near or because the police cars are in other sections. With school classes dismissed speeding should be stopped.

Mrs. Eleanor Wilkins today requested council for compensation because of injuries sustained at 11:30 p. m. May 29, at North and North Mill street, when the curb crumbled. She fell, she claims causing injuries to her hip and knee and ruining shoes and clothing. The request was referred to the city solicitor's office for investigation.

"I CHANGED A BAD STOMACH TO A GOOD ONE WITH VENDOL"

New Castle matron declares long search for right medicine didn't end till month ago, when she luckily tried Vendol.

MRS. MARY CARSON

Just because you have tried medicine after medicine without getting the relief that you thought is no reason why you should give up in despair and feel that nothing can help you. Many local people who have had this experience are now taking Vendol, and the Vendol Man at Eckerd's Cut Rate Drug hears every day from happy users of this great Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine, who have found gratifying relief through its use when nothing else they had tried seemed to help them. This was the case of Mrs. Mary Carson of 4 South View Ave., New Castle, who says:

"A long, continued, constipated condition had caused me to suffer in many ways. My appetite disappeared, and what little food I did force into my stomach almost always distressed me with painful gas and heartburn; my sleep at night was pathetic, because I was called up from bed so often; dizzy spells had me reeling almost every day; and, more recently, I developed such a backache that I could hardly bear the misery.

"It was simply one medicine after another with me, but at best I got only temporary relief. I was pretty well discouraged, as you can readily understand, but I did decide to have one last try with Vendol, because it was so highly recommended by well known people.

"Let me tell you, this medicine was as different as night from day from the other medicines I'd taken. Why, it got my bowels moving smoothly and thoroughly with just a few doses. Now, although I've taken it just one month, I have a 'logger's appetite' and eat whatever I want without a trace of distress; I sleep like a baby from night 'til morning, without getting up at all; the dizzy spells never seem to bother me any more; and there simply seems to be no sign of the old backache or leg pains. It took Vendol to change a bad stomach into a good one for me. So, I don't hesitate to recommend it to everyone else."

All druggists sell Vendol, so it is not difficult to get, and the Vendol Man is daily at Eckerd's Cut Rate Drug, 118 E. Washington St., to explain all about it. So, come see him; learn how Vendol will help you, too.

Warns Against Molesting Game

Abandoned Or Lost Game Is Usually In Close Vicinity Of Parent

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 1. — Col. Nicholas Biddle, president of the state game commission, has warned Pennsylvanians "not to molest young birds and animals." He pointed out that while the commission appreciates the public interest in wild life, it cannot condone the molestation of any of the young of protected wild life.

For years Col. Biddle said, every spring has brought forth its collection of so-called "orphans of the wild," most of which were picked up by people who "thought" they were lost or abandoned by their parents, and whose sympathies induced them to take the "little fellows" home. Very few wild creatures are actually orphaned or lost, he added, and to that end the law prescribes heavy fines for molesting or picking up the young.

More fawn deer have been picked up by sympathetic motorists than any other creatures, but in ninety-nine out of a hundred cases the mothers were merely frightened by the approach of the person and would quickly have returned to their offspring the minute the danger passed.

Welsh And Gibbons Bring Ross To City

James Ross, 22 of 19 Maitland street, was returned from Jersey City, N. J., to this city today by Lawrence County Detective Paul Welsh and State Motor Policeman Walter Gibbons to answer to charges of assault and battery with intent to rob Adam Esposito, R. D. 7. The officers captured him there. Ross waived extradition, the officers said. He is in the county jail awaiting a hearing.

Also awaiting a hearing on the charge of assault and battery with intent to rob Esposito in Moravia street extension, May 21, are Lawrence Italo, 516 North Liberty St., and Benjamin Dominick, R. D. 7. They were arrested by State Motor Policemen William Brush and Walter Gibbons, recently.

FINDS VALUABLE USE FOR WALNUT SHELLS

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—At last a valuable use has been found for the humble walnut shell.

Almost by accident, Dr. Alfred M. Boyce, assistant professor of emymology at the University of California citrus experiment station discovered ground walnut shells were just the ticket for diluting a pest killer effective in killing the dread red spider.

The new insectide, Dinitro-o-cyclohexylphenol — "D-N Dust" for short, is effective aginst red spiders on walnuts, peaches and almonds, but its chief trouble heretofore was in finding a suitable dilutant to reduce the powerful poison to a reasonable mildness.

Twenty-seven new members were initiated into New Castle Aerie 455, Fraternal Order of Eagles, in special ceremonies in the Eagles home on South Jefferson street last night. The induction was in charge of Worthy President Daniel V. Cunningham.

The Eagles' grand lodge had assigned the local aerie a quota of 120 new members to strive for during the past year. When the twelve-month closed last night, 127 had been secured.

At the regular June session of the lodge, Worthy President Cunningham will turn over his office to the newly elected leader, C. M. Patterson. Other new officers will also be installed.

PENNSYLVANIA HAS WRITER'S COLONY

(International News Service)

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., June 1.—America's literary "gold coast" lies along the banks of the Delaware river in Bucks county, Pennsylvania.

For in the midst of this rich farm country there are some 150 high-priced writers who now maintain estates far from the noise and excitement of any large city. Philadelphia, the nearest metropolis, is 30 miles away, while New York City is about 60 miles to the north.

Within hailing distance of one another, some of this country's most popular novelists, playwrights and motion picture scenario writers work at home on the material that appears in current periodicals and on the screen.

Congressmen Prepare To Greet British Rulers

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The 45-minute period allotted for the congressional reception for King George and Queen Elizabeth June 9 will necessitate closing of the capitol to all but their majesties, senators, representatives and a few chosen members of the press, a joint congressional committee on arrangements announced today.

Accommodations on the capitol steps and in the plaza will be made available to members' families, capitol employes, the press and general public. Here the king and queen may be seen entering and leaving the building.

Their majesties will be met at the foot of the capitol steps at 11 a. m. by a select congressional committee and escorted into the rotunda. Members of House and Senate will await them there.

Senators will be led forward by Vice President Garner, who will take a place beside the queen, while Senator Pittman (D), Nevada, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and a member of the receiving committee, presents each senator.

Representatives led by Speaker Bankhead, will be presented to the king and queen by acting chairman Sol Bloom of the House foreign affairs committee.

As their majesties stand under a historic painting of Pocahontas, they will see hanging directly across the rotunda paintings depicting scenes of the Revolutionary War, in which the United States won its independence from England.

Nearly 1,000 sailors, soldiers, marines, policemen, plainclothesmen and secret service agents will be on duty in the building and the grounds during the reception.

All in all, June 8 and 9 are bound to be rigorous days for Garner.

Known to be adverse to formal social functions, the easy-going "Cactus Jack", in addition to leading the Senate in the congressional reception, will help President Roosevelt receive the sovereigns at Union station; dine with them at the White House and at the British embassy, and shoulder the top duties of American officialdom at the embassy's garden party, which the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will not attend.

Y., where they will be President and Mrs. Roosevelt's guests at the Roosevelt estate. They will sail home from Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Barrymore Must Quit His Heavy Drinking Habit

Heart Attack In Chicago Induced By Too Much Alcohol, Must Also Go On Diet

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 1.—Actor John Barrymore, suffering the after effects of a heart attack, was under strict orders today to behave himself.

The edict was that of Barrymore's physician, Dr. W. H. Highstone, who said "behaving" meant that the patient for the next several days must limit himself to "one small drink every four hours," and a diet consisting principally of soft boiled eggs, lamb chops and tea.

Dr. Highstone, who yesterday began giving Barrymore oxygen treatments to relieve a cardiac condition, indicated the treatments would be continued "to relieve the burden on the heart."

"Mr. Barrymore," Dr. Highstone added, "takes a very serious view of the situation and that is just what we want him to do. He understands that he must give up all the activities which have been wearing him down."

Barrymore's condition was greatly improved today, the physician said, and it was believed he would be well enough by Monday to return to his role in "My Dear Children."

Elaine Barrie, Barrymore's estranged wife, tried to reach him by telephone yesterday from California but was not permitted to speak to him personally. Her sympathy was conveyed to the actor, it was said. Miss Barrie and Barrymore have suits pending against each other, including Miss Barrie's suit for divorce.

Missing Girl Enroute South Mother Hears

Supposition that Miss Ruth Jenkins, 18, of 504 Martin street, who disappeared last Friday morning, was hitch-hiking south to her grandmother in Florida was borne out today when her mother, Mrs. David Jenkins, received a postal card from the daughter who said she was in Mt. Airy, N. C.

The postal card said that she was having a fine time and had already tanned from the trip south. She advised her parents not to worry, adding that she would continue writing as she journeyed toward Florida.

Pittsburgh To See Local Legion Band On Parade July 18

Club Here Sending It; Two Old Soldiers Are Luncheon Guests

New Castle's crack American Legion Junior band will march in the gigantic parade opening the Lions International conclave in Pittsburgh July 18, it was announced by Lions club officers today. A large delegation of local Lions intend to march with the band.

In their annual memorial season program yesterday, the Lions, honored by the presence of two of Lawrence county's surviving Civil war veterans, heard Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of First Christian church and a Lion, speak on a fitting Memorial Day theme.

Saluted in the exercises were D. M. Clark, commander of Post 100, Grand Army of the Republic, of Mt. Jackson, and Edward Ayers, of Pulaski.

Jay G. Rudolph was the program chairman. In his formal convention report, Ezra D. Marvin, delegate of the club to the Lions' Allentown convention, told his fellow clubmen that Lionism now has 181 clubs in Pennsylvania with a membership of 6,780.

Many college boys say they wouldn't fight for their country. It's so much easier to win fame and glory by swallowing goldfish.

Shopper—But this talking doll won't talk.

Bright Clerk—No, I'm sorry. You see, it's supposed to belong to the diplomatic service.

Emily Post tells us everything except it's nice to send the wife flowers on her birthday if she does the bread-winning and has to pay the bill.

"How many kinds of wood are used in making a match?" asked William.

"Two kinds,' replied Harriet. "He would and she would."

Pilcher—Old man, you look all played out. What you need is a vacation.

Goudiss—That's what's the trouble. I've just returned from one.

Resume Of Action In Legislative Session

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 1.—Pennsylvania's precedent-breaking 1939 legislative session—a session fraught with bitter party wrangling—passed into history as weary legislators took disputed issues "back home".

The Republican administration of Gov. Arthur H. James received two decided setbacks in its legislative program but managed to force a number of "must" measures through the general assembly.

Coal and liquor legislation brought rebuffs to the James regime, as the Kane anthracite control bill went down to defeat under pressure from almost 10,000 "bootleg" miners camped about the capitol in protest to the measure, and the legislature ignored administration-backed amendments to the liquor laws.

Fireworks Law

A significant victory was registered in passage of the Tahl-Hamilton fireworks bill outlawing the sale or use of fireworks in Pennsylvania except at public displays. The bill, already contested, outrode a senate committee storm that threatened to "pickle" it.

During the 21 weeks long session which cost Pennsylvania taxpayers an estimated $1,500,000, the legislature completed action on the following legislation:

Enacted into law the Van Allsburg relief reorganization bill, with the governor instead of county boards given complete authority to dismiss relief employes; amended 1937 anti-injunction laws to permit judges to disregard its provisions in certain labor disputes; defeated the Snyder milk bill permitting dealers and producers to regulate prices without approval of the state milk control commission.

Some Measures Passed

Passed the $167,000,000 general appropriation bill to carry on governmental functions and aid state-supported schools; approved amendments to the Pierson "work-or-no-dole" bill; passed the Geltz alien registration bill requiring non-citizens to register annually with the department of labor and industry; appropriated $100,000 to pay for the Dauphin county grand jury investigation into the Earle administration.

Amended an act of 1913 to permit women to work two shifts by increasing from 10 p. m. to midnight the hours they may work; amended the administrative code by transferring the state retirement board from the treasury department to the department of state, along with the board of finance and revenue; provided almost $10,000,000 for state-aided hospitals; wrote a series of changes in the state's motor vehicle code, highlighted by one ruling car-over-cab truck convoys off Pennsylvania highways after Jan. 1, 1942.

Created a state parole board of five members to handle all paroles, leaving pardons and capital cases in the hands of the state board of pardons; amended the 1937 tenure law by putting new teachers on probation for two years; revised the 1937 workmen's compensation laws; and set up a new department of commerce to foster business and industrial good-will.

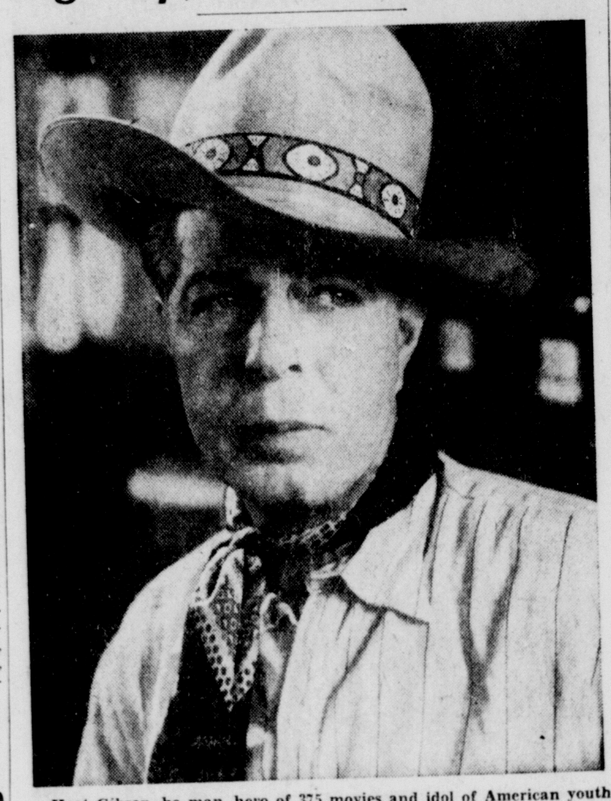
Hoot Gibson, Now Star Of Big Top, Is Idol Of Youth



Hoot Gibson, he-man, hero of 375 movies and idol of American youth, who this season is headline feature of Russell Bros.' Circus.

The secret behind Hoot Gibson's never-ending grip on American boyhood will be graphically demonstrated when the famous cowboy star appears in person with Russell Bros.' Circus in New Castle on Monday, June 5.

Then the crowds of circus-goers will see for themselves that world acclaim and wealth have not changed this amiable man in the least, that he is still the same self-effacing cowboy that startled America by winning the Pendleton (Ore.) Roundup championship at the age of 18.

Gibson remains the noble type of hero he created on the screen. There it not a line on his face to indicate his eventful career of hard riding and thrilling adventure. He enjoys an occasional pipeful of tobacco, but his life is still foreign to all forms of dissipation. A man's man, he is also an exemplary idol of youth.

This star of 375 films who never used a double heads his own great company of western champions in the circus and with his famous horse, Rowdy, gives an exciting exhibition of riding, roping and sharpshooting, besides re-acting scenes from some of his favorite films. This, however, is just a part of the vast and varied Russell Bros. three-ring program. On the star-studded roster are the Flying Lesters; Walter Jennier's marvelous trained-seallion performance; Don Phillipe, Spanish wizard of the tight wire; Madame Bedini's fine horses, and Irene Ledgett's performing elephants, to mention only a few of the features.

Two complete performances will be given, starting at 2 and 8 p. m. The front doors will open at 1 and 7 p. m. to allow ample time for an inspection, at no extra cost, of the wild-animal menagerie and horse show.

The Nation's Best Speller

Nine letters forming the word "canonical" won for Elizabeth Rice, 12, of Worcester, Mass., the trophy and $500 as best speller of the twenty-one children competing in the 15th annual national spelling bee held in the National Museum, Washington, D. C. Elizabeth, who was fourth last year, won after Humphrey Cook, 12, of Richmond, Va., missed spelling the word "homogeneity." (Central Press)

Celebrating His 85th Birthday

Wesley Cartwright Of West Washington Street Reaches Notable Anniversary

Wesley Cartwright of 112½ West Washington street, is quietly celebrating his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary today.

Mr. Cartwright was born in Sharpsburg, and came to this city about sixty-six years ago.

He worked as a puddler at Sharpsburg, and had charge of a furnace, when quite young. He puddled in the old Kimberly Mill, and the Rice and Berger Mills here, working there the same time as "Billy" Williams of Etna street, and Harry Blews of Ryan avenue.

Later he learned the machinist and boiler making trades. He worked for a period as boiler maker at Parkers Landing. For twenty-two years he was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and was one of the first men hired at the railroad shops. He was also an employe of the P. & L. E. R. R. for ten years.

He remembers when the West Washington street bridge was a covered bridge, also when they took the top off it.

Mr. Cartwright is a member of the First Baptist church. He remembers the old original frame Baptist church, the laying of the corner stone for a new church in 1881, and the enlargement in 1894.

His children are Alfred Cartwright, of County Line street; Frank, of Court street, and Mrs. Cora Phipps of Delaware avenue.

Mr. Cartwright's health is fair. Friends and relatives called today to extend their congratulations and best wishes, and he received a number of birthday cards.

Greta Garbo Starts First Picture In Last Two Years

By MILTON HARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 1—The great Garbo, famed for her exotic costumes on the screen, goes to work in the first scene of her first picture in two years in a plain tailored suit of oxford gray, with a little hat to match.

She is in a happy frame of mind as she begins. She has been hanging around for eight months and hanging around doing nothing in Hollywood for eight months is like hanging around doing nothing for eight months in any other hick town. It gets boring, very boring.

She's happy, too, because she's been wanting to do a comedy and there is much of comedy in "Ninotchka." In this Garbo, the Swede, plays a Russian.

The first scene is being shot in a hotel room in Paris. Garbo, who is trying to dispose of some crown jewels (the idea you're to get is that they once belonged to the Czar) is getting a report from three of her confederates, Sig Rumann, Felix Bressart and Alex Granich.

They are shamefacedly admitting they have had no luck in disposing of the gems, which are supposed to be worth thousands but which were actually manufactured at very small cost right in the M-G-M studio.

Later on in the picture Garbo will herself dispose of them, which ought to make a lot of excitement. Crown jewels and a beautiful woman—what more do you want for your admission price?

You can give Hedy Lamarr a gold star for this little episode.

It happened for the first three weeks of "A Lady of the Tropics," Hedy was working almost exclusively with Robert Taylor, for this is fundamentally the story of a woman and a man.

Then came a day to shoot scenes in what's supposed to be the continental cafe at Saigon, Indo-China. More than 150 extras were engaged for the sequence. There was a Chinese orchestra on hand.

Director Jack Conway was almost ready to shoot when he noticed Hedy's absence.

A hurried telephone call to her home brings word she's slightly ill.

An assistant director explains that her absence means all the extras must be sent home and lose practically a whole day's pay. So Hedy gets dressed and rushes to the studio and works while a trained nurse stands by. Nice girl!

Wallace Beery is getting a big kick from one part of "Thunder Afloat." Once again he walks the deck of the old tugboat "Narcissus," which carried him to fame with Marie Dressler in "Tugboat Annie."

The tug has been hauled out of dry-dock and rechristened the "Susan H."

The Gloucester fishing schooner, "We're Here," which sailed more than 5,000 miles for scenes in 'Captains Courageous" also will be used in this new navy film. She's now at anchor at Long Beach, Calif., waiting for action.

The dictators say it was "unfair" to call them the aggressors. Austria and Albania, for instance, started everything by being little.

Walls Exhibits "Plug" Of Tobacco 76 Years Old

W. W. Walls, 18 Rounds St. brought a plug of tobacco 3" x 11½" x 1-4" an unusual size, to The News office yesterday, that has a history.

Mr. Walls, was born in Saltsville, Virginia, and when visiting his relatives there, last fall, it was given him, with the explanation, that it was part of 1500 pounds of tobacco stored away in a cellar, for 76 years. James Cardwell, of Saltville, bit off the corner of this plug, and chewed it, and is still living.

Mr. Walls statement in regard to this tobacco, is as follows:

"During the Civil War, in the year 1861, Colonel Cobb of Lynchburg, Va., shipped to Colonel Bayers, of Glade Springs, Virginia, thirty boxes of plug tobacco, 100 pounds to the box, for distribution among his soldiers. Colonel Bayers seems to have given the soldiers 1500 pounds of the tobacco, and stored 1500 pounds in his cellar.

The house, in which it was stored has changed hands three or four times since that time. Mrs. Keys, who now owns the property, decided in 1937 to have the house wired for electricity. The electricians when inning the wire, found what looked to them to be a column encased from the cellar up into a closet under the stairway on the first floor. The electricians wanted to hide their wires in this encasement. When they opened it, they found fifteen 100 pounds boxes of the plug tobacco, before mentioned, that had lain there for 76 years. The address on the box was quite plain, as if written a few days before. Also printed on each box was, "Stonewall Jackson Tobacco." Mrs. Keys, sold 14 boxes of the tobacco to a newspaper man in Lynchburg, keeping one box, and distributed the plugs among her friends.

Eastern Roads To Lower Rates

Third Time In Three Years That Railroads Have Reduced Fares

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 1.—The heads of the eastern railroads Wednesday announced sweeping reductions in passenger fares in coaches and pullmans, marking the third change in three years.

The announcement was made by Frederic E. Williamson, president, N. Y. Central Railroad, one of the principal proponents of lower fares.

The reductions were put on a distance basis, and run on round trips from 10 per cent to coach trips of 100 miles to 32 per cent on trips of 900 miles and more.

Cut Pullman Rates

The announcement also said cuts will be made in both one-way and round trip fares in upper pullman berths.

The present coach fare basis is 2½ cents a mile, which went into effect last July after the interstate commerce commission yielded to the carriers' plea for higher revenues in the railroad emergency of 1937-38.

Application to put the new rates into effect will be filed shortly with the I. C. C., it was stated.

The proposed new schedule will cut the basic rate to 2¼ cents a mile on round trips up to 100 miles. Thereafter the rate per mile will progressively diminish in blocks of 50 miles until the minimum of 1.7 cents a mile is reached at a distance of 901 miles and over.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DOCTOR ATTRIBUTES QUINTS' WEIGHT GAIN TO TONSIL REMOVAL

Many people have asked me the reason for the quints' weight gain in the past year. I think it is in the fact that they had their tonsils out. Since these diseased organs came out last fall, gains have been larger. Marie, especially, has come ahead. One month alone she gained four pounds. And for the first time since she was born, her average gain for the year hasn't been less than any of the others.

It is a matter of fact that the quints have drawn so together in the matter of size and weight that it is getting harder to tell them apart than it used to be. In fact, we think that the children themselves are sometimes a bit puzzled by their similarity. For instance, out on the playyard we used to be able to pick out the youngster with the spindly legs and say, "There's Marie." But you can't do that now, Marie isn't spindly-legged any more.

We who are around the children a lot can still tell them apart by their many small differences, but those not so accustomed to being with them are more puzzled than ever.

While we are on the subject of their weights, I think it is interesting to note just how they have varied in their weight race. When they were born, Yvonne was heaviest and weighed more than half as much again as Marie. But today Yvonne is second lightest at 50½ pounds, just half a pound more than Marie. Emilie, who weighed just four ounces more than Marie at birth and was the second smallest quint, is now the second heaviest. All along they've been see-sawing, but still staying very close together.

The weights of all five are within a range of 3 1-4 pounds. When they were born, the difference between heaviest and lightest was ten ounces. In their entire five years, the greatest variation in their weights occurred two years old, when Annette weighed four pounds, ten ounces more than Marie.

One thing about the children's progress in the matter of weight; it has been steady. Our graphs show that while one quint might not gain as much as the others one month, she usually made it up the next. Credit for this steady progress can be given only to the rigid schedule we have followed in the matter of feeding.

BELL EMPLOYES GIVEN CITATION

For their instant and effective assistance in restoring telephone service in the north Atlantic states during and following the hurricane of last September, the men and women of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania shared in the Theodore N. Vail special citation and bronze plaque awarded to employees of the Bell system by the National Committee of Award.

The report of the committee, which met recently in New York to consider noteworthy acts of public service performed by telephone employees during 1938 was made public today by the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

Carpenter Ant Works On Trees

Large Tree On North Pine Street Attack According To City Forester

On North Pine street, there is a large hard maple, in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webster.

In the trunk of the tree, from its base and up for about five or six feet, can be seen many holes, into either of which a match stem might be placed, and lost sight of.

Owen Fox, city forester, states that this is the work of the carpenter ant. These black ants are very detrimental to this group of maples, also dogwood, and certain species of oak.

Whenever these holes are noticed in the trunks of trees, a mound of sawdust will be found at the base of the tree.

These carpenter ants do their drilling with a contrivance or "attachment" at the end of their body, that revolves, and acts as a drill into the wood. These insects bore into the center of the tree trunk. A good remedy for the elimination of these pests, is to take a piece of sharp pointed wire, insert it in the various holes, revolving the wire with its inward progress, with the possibility of destroying many of these borers. After this operation, the holes should be sealed with bees wax, to shut off the air.

When one of Daniel Webster's beloved horses died, he is said to have had it buried with bridle and saddle on, feet downward, so the animal would remain standing for eternity.

Pymatuning Dam Level Is Normal

Ample Supply Of Water Assured During Coming Summer

HARRISBURG, June 1.—Latest reports show the water in the Pymatuning reservoir at an elevation of 1007.62 feet which is well over the spillway, according to the Department of Forests and Waters.

This elevation is normal for this season of the year. An ample supply of water is flowing over the spillway to maintain a good flow in the Shenango river.

When the flow of water over the spillway becomes low or goes below spillway level the gates of the reservoir will be opened so that there will be a normal flow at the mouth of the spillway.

Prior to the construction of Pymatuning dam and reservoir the water flow at Sharon and other points in the valley dropped during the summer to as low as 4,500,000 gallons per day. A one-month average showed that as little as 20,000,000 gallons per day passed Sharon. This often necessitated the closing of many of the industrial establishments which dot the valley and often affected the domestic water supplies.

Vandalism of the worst sort has been reported to Grave Registrar Thomas C. Edmunds. Mrs. Frank Holliday, receiver for Valley View Cemetery reported that a number of flag holders and emblems had been stolen from graves of ex-service men and several pine trees had been torn out.

Just what any thief would want with a marker from a dead soldier's grave is hard to understand. The marker is merely a bronze medallion on a supporting rod and denotes the war in which the soldier engaged. To steal one of them is akin to stealing the collection out of a church plate.

Launch Triple Probe Into Barberton School Explosion

Fifty Seven Hurt In School Blast

Believe Leaking Gas Ignited And Caused Explosion In School

SEVERAL REPORTED AS BADLY INJURED

(International News Service)

BARBERTON, O., June 1.—Three investigations into the school blast that injured 53 Barberton children and four adults started today while several victims lay near death in hospitals.

The explosion, which wrecked an eight-room frame residence converted into a school house, was attributed to gas by Fire Chief Witwer. It was believed that the gas leaked into the basement of the building from a gas main displaced by recent sewer construction and was ignited when Janitor P. S. White burned papers in the basement.

Investigations were started by the Ohio state industrial commission, the East Ohio Gas company and the Barberton school board.

Several Seriously Injured

Most seriously injured were White, who suffered severe burns on the arms and hands, and four pupils in the school, Frances Fisher, seven, possible skull fracture, broken jaw, first degree burns and head lacerations; Mary Mattingly, seven, possible skull fracture; Dorothy Young, six, possible skull fracture and burns, and Ella Chamber, seven.

The explosion blew the side of the building on the lower floor completely away from the house, caused a second story floor to collapse and literally blew the children from the building.

Several children and one teacher, Miss Maybelle Miller, who suffered a broken leg, were caught beneath the falling second floor.

Dr. P. J. McGuire, one of the physicians who treated many of the children, said that he was standing near the building when the explosion occurred.

"There was a big blast of fire and then the walls came out," Dr. McGuire said. "I ran over to a store and told them to call the fire departments and then I ran into the building and helped several children out.

"Several more children ran by me with blood streaming from their face, but they were so scared it was like trying to catch rabbits.

"Then I went to the Barberton clinic because I knew the other doctor was away."

The children were taken to Citizens hospital in Barberton and to the clinic. A total of 57 persons were admitted to the two hospitals for treatment.

FIREMEN SEARCHING RUINS OF GRADE SCHOOL

Firemen search the ruins of a two-story frame school building at Barberton, O., ripped apart by an explosion while between 80 and 100 children between the ages of six and 11 were at their desks. More than 30 children were injured, several seriously. The building was being used temporarily by the Akron suburb for "overflow" pupils.

The Townsmen Plan Summer Programs

A summer-long schedule of entertaining activities for members of The Townsmen was announced by President Joseph R. McFate, last night when the club celebrated the close of a spirited attendance contest at a dinner in The Castleton.

The June-July-August affairs will be in charge of various members of the organization.

Frank Clary's side of the attendance contest defeated Chris A. Clark's division by a small margin. At the dinner the losers had to perform stunts assigned them by the winners. Glenn McCracken, chairman of the attendance committee, had charge.

"He swims like a fish" is a common expression.

But man is essentially a terrestrial animal.

When he goes aquatic he is out of his sphere.

Aquatic animals can stand the effects of water—not man.

Man cannot close his ear to keep out the water.

Man cannot close the nostrils as aquatic animals can.

Man cannot maintain normal temperature in cold water.

Chilling of the body constricts the blood vessels.

Resistance is lowered.

The mucous membrances are subject to infections.

Man is not aquatic.

He may be a poor fish—but he is not a real fish.

Pet Dog Expected To Recover From Injuries By Train

Teddy, Pet Of Railroaders At Ward Station Has Leg Amputated In Mishap

Rapid recovery was forecasted today for Teddy, pet terrier of all of the railroaders working out of the ward terminal. Teddy, who belongs to Mrs. McWilliams at the Liberty Hotel, had a front leg amputated under the wheels of a train, Tuesday afternoon.

Under the care of a local veterinary, the dog has had the leg treated. Plans are now under way to manufacture some type of a "peg leg" for the animal, to enable him to get around with less difficulty.

When the accident ocurred, Teddy was reported to be playing too near the track. As the train passed, he did not clear the track, and his one leg was caught.

The plane in which the trip was made is jointly owned by two Seventh Ward fellows, Herbert Dungan, George Horchler and by Findley Wilson.

Six of the more than .300 hitters adorn the line-up of Wampum and three play for Hillsville.

Here are the batters:

Peanuts De Mark, second baseman, hits right-handed, is 25, has an average of .312 and is one of the peppiest of league infielders, Wampum.

Amey Fontana, left fielder, hits right-handed, is 20 years old, is the circuit's best clouter with .386 and had a try-out with the Pirates in '38, Wampum.

Fox Kosier, center fielder, hits right handed, is 24 years old, has an average of .360 and is a hawk at fielding hard hit balls, Wampum.

Jack Marshall, first baseman, hits southpaw is 23 years old, has an average of .380 and is a prospect for any scout to watch, Wampum.

Russ Butchelli, also a gardener, hits left handed, is 23 years old, has batted for an average of .337 and who also has had a try-out with the minors, Wampum.

Joe Julius, also an outfielder, who hits right-handed and has started on the 25-year old march, has an average of .312, Wampum.

John Pepe, right handed hurler, who has seen 23 summers. He pitched in the Mid-Atlantic in 1937-38. His hitting average is .376; Hillsville.

Mario Calderaro, outfielder, right handed hitter, with an average of .376 and a hustler; Hillsville.

Slim Skocic, first baseman, hits right handed, average, .308; a six feet three inch player who answers to 27 years. He is the tallest player in the league.

Here's The Hurlers

Jack Winter, with five wins and two defeats for Wampum. Ippolito with six wins and two defeats, or Harper with eight victories and three defeats, in 1938, may draw the assignment to pitch against Hillsville.

Either John Pepe or Joe Pepe, the latter with eight wins and three defeats; Frank Lovrella, with an even break of 5 and 5, last year, or Sammy Gadzia who hurled for the air corps in 1938, will be assigned to spike the Wampum bats.

One of the players being watched is Joe Scala, the classy catcher for Wampum. He hit .265 last season and showed a lot of stuff behind the bat. Nick Scala, also under observation, a shortstop, now 21, with a 1939 average of .258, who had a try-out with the Pirates, will also play.

Ex-Champs Of Beaver Loop

No records were available today on the members of the Ellwood City and New Castle (New Galilee) Hot Tops. However, it should suffice to say that Ellwood City captured the championship of the Beaver County league last season. New Galilee was a member of the circuit and won second place.

Nick Mundo, under contract to Ellwood City, has had minor league experience and George Komora, a pitcher, had a try-out with the Butler Yankees last season. Tom Beatrice has been a consistent performer on the hill for Ellwood City.

Burd Inman, Ralph Ferranti, Bob Walker, Butch Weisnner and Jim Boron comprise the pitching staff of the New Castle or New Galilee outfit. They had plenty of stuff last season and only Monday Ferrante held Hillsville to one hit.

There is a lot of class on their team and one of the players, Fred Mentz is the daddy of 'em all, in experience. He has been cavorting around the sandlots for a score of years and anyone who has been playing that long certainly knows his baseball.

Six Teams In League

The Bessemer team, 1938 champions, drew a bye and the East Side Redskins will not begin participation in the Lawrence circuit until Monday. They'll start off with no wins to their credit but with 10 defeats chalked against them. At present they're accredited with eight losses.

With six teams in the loop next week the games will be played as follows: Hillsville at East Side Redskins (field to be announced today or Friday); Ellwood City at Bessemer and New Castle Hot Tops at Wampum.

The Bessemer-Ellwood City game should contain a lot of rivalry. Last season the Lawrence county champions defeated Ellwood City of the Beaver loop. Both now are in the former circuit and the rivalry between these two outfits is intense.

Nobils Defeat K. Pulaskis 4-1

The Nobils hung to the lead in the City Softball league last night at Sunny avenue field by tripping the fast K. Pulaski team 4 to 1, with Norman Bishara applying handcuffs to the heavy hitting Pulaski boys. He gave up but four hits. Heavy hitting was done by Sam Copple, Jimmy Deep, Tony Nocera and Frank Copple.

Radiators Trim Sons Of Italy

The National Radiators won from the Sons of Italy team last night in a City Softball league game at Dean park field by the score of 10 to 5. Mazzari and Fornataro paced the hitting attack for the Rads, with DeCitto best for the losers. Irv Rubeis allowed the losers but eight hits.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The Lawrence County Baseball league has been the tutoring field for several players who have reached the big league. Paul McCullough hit the American league when he went to the Senators only to come home. Previously he hurled for Roger Bresnahan of the Toledo Mudhens and later for Minneapolis. Gus Thompson caught for Scranton in the New York-Penna State loop and Jewie Coen flung 'em over for Piedmont in a Carolinas league. We believe "Had Haid got away before the County league was formed in 1922. Fred Shaffer, who pitched for Volant against the Pirates in Centennial field is now with Louisville and Henry Marshall of Hillsville is outfielding for the Erie Sailors Crossing the State line, a Pennsylvanian will find McCullough pitching for the Youngstown East Side Civics; Audley Snyder and Hardesty hurlers, flinging for Lansingville in the Slovak league. "Goat" Augustine is managing the Dukes of the Youngstown AA loop and Mickey Huff, one of the brainiest infielders is captain of the East Side Civics. Dorie Gunnett, an ex-hurler from the Lawrence league is flinging 'em over for the Dukes of Youngstown.

Met Fred Bobinson, pro at the New Kensington golf club several nights ago. Fred was hot beneath the collar because some Pittsburghers had accused his mother country, England, of being a poor sport in having banned John Henry Lewis from fighting in England because of a reported injury to his eye. Fred should not have taken the accusation seriously because the Michigan boxing commission called the turn first and while John Henry might make use of the money he will discover later on his eyeright will prove more valuable. Fred served in the British army with the late Captain V. Arthur Smith, the local pro. He told us some stories of Smith's army life and of his wounds suffered, we believe he said, at Gallipoli. Robinson has a hole through his wrist some times affects his golfing.

The report that Jimmie Dime, now ill, gave boxing instructions to the late President Teddy Roosevelt when Teddy was governor of New York state, is true. Several nights ago, we visited Dime, told him the latest fight news and when we asked if it were true he had given boxing instructions to the president, Dime replied in the affirmative. The lessons were given in Albany. Dime was well acquainted with all members of Teddy's family and had a great affection for the boys.... Eddie Mead, manager and Henry Armstrong are on their way home from England where Armstrong won his only fight. According to the dope we get, Mead wants Armstrong to only fight as often this year as it will take to put $100,000 in Armstrong's pockets. Of course Eddie will get his managerial share. Armstrong is not the only champion Meade has managed. He had Joe Lynch. For a time his fighters were not so prominent. He is the chap who brought Floyd Hybert here. Eddie knows the fortunes of the boxing game.

The Baer-Nova fight will go on about 9 p. m. E. S. T. tonight in New York and is scheduled for 15 chapters. The winner will meet the winner of the champion Joe Louis-Tony Galento battle.... The winner of the Kenny La Salle vs. Fritzie Zivic fight Monday night in Pittsburgh, will be matched with Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion, either in St. Louis or Pittsburgh. Kenny, managed by Johnny Rizzo, the Pirate, got the award over Zivic in Houston.... Johnny Dean, New Castle middleweight, who recently left the U. S. Marines, will box in Pittsburgh as soon as he is in condition.

First Place At Stake Tonight In City League

Slovak Club League Leaders Will Play Lawrence Indies At Clifton Flats Field

LEAGUE RACE GETTING HOTTER

The game of games tonight in the City baseball league will take place down on the Clifton Flats field when the two natural South Side rivals, the league leading Slovak Club meets the second place Lawrence Indies team. The game will start at 5:45 o'clock and the fur is sure to fly thick and fast.

Manager Steve "Snag" Russell has let his players know that this is going to be the toughest game that they have faced this year. The Lawrence Indies is one of the strongest clubs in the City League and are "darkhorses" to take the pennant this season. Russell will more than likely use Leroy Anderson or Shimmy Balla to try and cop this important setto.

Just who Manager "Hoss" Zidow will use on the hill is not known, but it may be Savage or Majecha, both very effective men. Zidow wants to win this one tonight.

Civics Vs. Columbus Club

The Union Civics will be down on the E. & A. field to meet the Columbus Club, another hot team this year. The pitchers will be Shaw or Smith for the Unions and Rainey for the Columbus Club.

The Ryantown team will be down in West Pittsburg to meet Danny DeGenova and his "Gas House Gang", and will find the West Pittsburg boys on their toes. DeGenova will start either Tonsetic or Powell, or it may be Hill. Samuels will use Morrison.

The West Side Tigers will entertain the St. Josephs Ecclesian Club up at the Lee Avenue Field, with Shiek or Picato doing the Saints' heaving and Hoffmaster or Updegraf, the Tigers' choice.

The Elder A. C. team goes to Glasser Field to meet Maslyk's rejuvenated Oaklanders, seeking their third straight win since reorganizing. Maslyk will use either Teddy Kolcz or Brownie Ostrosky on the hill and the Elders will have McIntyre or Tommy Strausbaugh ready to pitch. Carey is also an Elder hurling possibility.

Utility-Mercantile League Will Start It's Season Tonight

The Utility-Mercantile softball league of eight teams will start its 1939 season tonight with the playing of four games. The games will start at 6 o'clock.

The Penn Power All-Stars meet the Penn Power Mdse at Rotary field.

Nova Slightly Favored To Win From Max Baer

Slight Shift To Nova In New York Betting Circle, Plenty Of Even Money Prevails

BATTLE SCENE YANKEE STADIUM

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 1.—With the results of his several years of riotous living and a decade of stopping punches hidden deep within the bronzed ruggedness of him, Max Baer finally will answer tonight how good a fighter man he is at the age of 30, when he tackles 24-year-old Lou Nova for 15, or fewer, rounds at Yankee Stadium. This time either the end must definitely arrive for the former heavyweight champion, or he will advance the final step toward a September engagement for the title he once held.

He has committed himself to a program of adult behavior once the gong rings. His childish pranks and silly posturing are to be forgotten for the time being, he reiterated, and the curious customers are going to respond about 30,000 strong on the long chance that he really means it. Predictions on the gate receipts ran as high as $150,000, but the majority foresaw about $125,000.

Betting Heavy

The betting undoubtedly was the heaviest in years for a heavyweight match, with most of the wagers going down at even money, although last night there was a slight shift to Nova, who was held at 7 to 10 and thereabouts in some reports and at shorter prices in others. Even money generally was accepted as the likely figure for today. Baer previously was 5 to 7 in the wagering.

Nova's backers depended upon his youth and speed, admitting that he would give Baer much the best of it in punching ability and experience. In size, both are just over 200 pounds.

Dick Nord Blanks Hillsville 7 To 0

Lorella Issues Five Free Trips, Given Weak Support

Dick Nord was in fine fettle yesterday and Bessemer blanked Hillsville, 7-0, in a Lawrence County Baseball circuit clash in Hillsville. Nord fanned six, issued only one free trip to first base and got good support when needed. Lorella had a day of wildness, extending five complimentaries to first and was found for 10 hits. Four errors were made behind him. Both teams executed a double play and P. Nord hit for two bases. The box score:

Daffy Dodgers Defeat Giants

Score Is 7 To 4 In Only Big League Game On Wednesday's Card

HAL SCHUMACHER IS CHASED TO SHOWERS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 1.—With the trading deadline only two weeks off, several major league clubs are trying desperately today to get help either by trade or purchase.

The cubs paved the way when they lured Claude Passeau from the Phils to bolster their pitching staff, and several other clubs have gone beyond the quibbling stage and are prepared to lay it on the line in large chunks.

It is no surprise to note that the Red Sox are in the market for at least one starting pitcher but it probably will surprise you to learn that the Yanks are momentarily expected to announce they have traded one of their excess outfielders for a pitcher.

This move by the Yanks leads one to suspect that Red Ruffing's sore arm is much more serious than the club will admit. To an outsider, it might appear that Gomez, Hildebrand, Sundra, Hadley, Donald and Murphy could supply all the pitching any manager could reasonably expect, but apparently Joe McCarthy doesn't think so.

Would Take Mulcahy

The Giants' pitching is hopeless and Horace Stoneham is ready to take the rubber off the bankrole to lure Hugh Mulcahy from the Phils. Unfortunately, the Giants haven't any trading material they could offer the Phils even as window dressing.

It's a rare occasion when any Giant pitcher goes the full route. This fact was stressed again yesterday when the Dodgers drove Hal Shumacher to the showers and won, 7 to 4.

The Giants have now lost 21 games in which they scored 60 runs or almost three a game. This doesn't indicate a very robust attack. But at least a third of those defeats might have been changed to victories with only mediocre pitching.

Ellwood City And Wampum Deadlock

Ellwood City Gets 13 Hits But Fails To Bring Runners Home

Darkness terminated a good game between Wampum and Ellwood City in Ellwood City yesterday and the deadlock was four-four in the Lawrence County Baseball loop game. Ellwood City got 13 hits off the Wampum hurlers but could not drive more than a quartet of runners across the plate. However, Wampum got four runs coming through half a dozen hits in the third when they tied the score. The box score:

Muriel Campbell

An innocent prank in which she and several other high school students played catch with a 65-cent watermelon, finally dropping it, brought death to Muriel Capmbell, 18, of Chicago. She was fatally shot by Anthony Papas, 55, working as a special policeman in a fruit market. Papas fired as the students fled, his shot striking Miss Campbell.

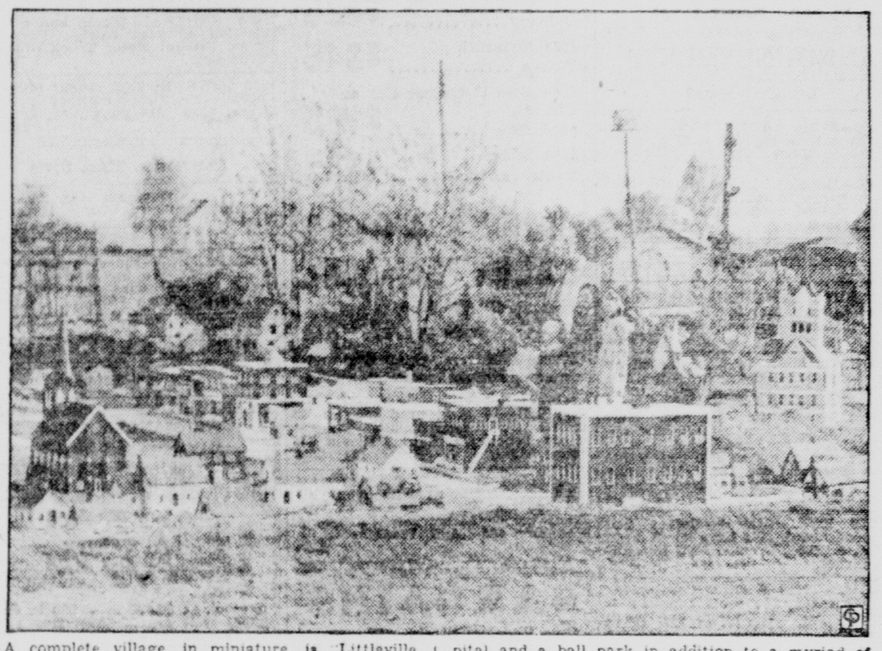
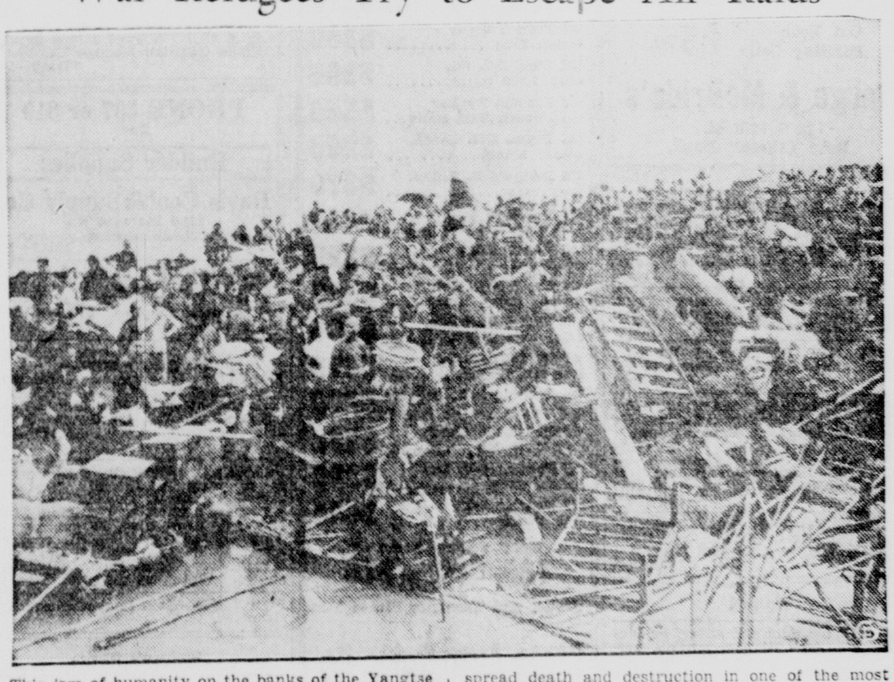
LABORERS BUILD COUNTRY'S LARGEST LITTLE TOWN



A complete village, in miniature is "Littleville, Ind." built on the outskirts of Chesterton, Ind., near Hammond, by two steel workers, William Murray and Harry Koch, in their spare time. The tiny town contains a courthouse modeled after that of Mason City, Ia., a Florence Nightingale hospital and a ball park in addition to a myriad of commercial and residential buildings. Sixty-five feet of railway track runs through the town. The size of the miniature town may be judged by comparison with the children seen in the photograph walking through it.

War Refugees Try to Escape Air Raids



This jam of humanity on the banks of the Yangtse river at Chungking, China, is only a small part of the 200,000 persons who fled in terror from the war-time capital of China when Japanese planes spread death and destruction in one of the most terrible air raids of the unofficial war. Observers estimated 5,000 persons were killed. This crowd is waiting for boats in an attempt to flee.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

This being the time of year that the birds are frequently seen hunting for earth worms and this being the time that we are closer to good earth than at any other part of the year . . . and the earthworm is more frequently picked up by the small one; we have taken the liberty to make a little study about this ever popular earthworm . . . If you would take an earth worm and cut it in two, it will live and grow a second half . . . and become normal. The hind half will generally produce a second tail at the mutilated end, and the worm will have two tails but no head . . . This tail, which has grown a second tail will not live long as it is incapable of ingesting food.

And just a few more words about the earthworm . . . and we offer these statements and their varifications to any earthworm enthusiast . . . the earthworm's song resembles the rhythm of tiny drops of water splashing on stone . . . what do you know about and another fact . . . the earthworm has . . . the common kind has 1,185 feet. Debatable.

* * *

Walking around the streets these days is somewhat of a job . . . at least to the fellow who walks the residential streets of New Castle . . . quite a few folks seem to forget that trees grow and that limbs frequently overhang the sidewalk. Right now they are not so bad, but a little rain will weigh the branches down thus making walking impossible . . . It takes very little time to trim a tree of these annoying limbs.

It won't be long until the pool at Cascade park will be open to the public . . . the pool will be operated by the city this year . . . it is your pool and this is a new undertaking for the city . . . you can do your part by supporting the pool and helping to keep it clean and presentable at all times. Prices will be very reasonable and will be published in the very near future.

* * *

Have you ever wondered who started the idea of "best man?" . . . it is an old Scottish custom to have a friend of the groom go along to the wedding to ward off the bride's kinspeople, after she had been carried off by the groom. In other words he was a sort of body-guard.

Trading Turns Quiet In Market After Moderate Activity At Start Of Session

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 1.—The stock market turned in a reactionary performance today. Losses in leaders ran to a point and more, but trading turned quiet after moderate activity at the opening.

Motor shares yielded with Chrysler down nearly 2 points at its low. General Motors gave ground fractionally.

Loses of a point ruled in leading steel shares. Railroad shares gave further ground. Atchison led with a decline of more than a point.

Sears Roebuck lost nearly 2 points in mail orders, and Eastman Kodak as much in blue chips.

Other leading issues to decline a point and more included Westinghouse, American Telephone, Douglas, Montgomery Ward and McIntyre. Coppers were down fractionally, and elsewhere the undertone was soft.

Wurtemburg Home Damaged By Fire

House Occupied By Martin Lample And Family Partially Destroyed This Morning

The fire apparently started in the garage, which was completely destroyed, and spread to the rear of the house, a two-story, four room, frame structure. A Chevrolet car parked in the garage was also completely destroyed.

Mr. Lample and his family were all asleep at the time and fortunately were aroused by neighbors, who discovered the blaze. Most of the furniture was salvaged from the house.

The Franklin township fire department responded quickly to the call for aid with Nelson Smith as driver and Harry Price, assistant chief, in charge. Although hampered by lack of water, the firemen accomplished a splendid piece of work in keeping the house from being entirely destroyed.

Damage was estimated at $1,500. The house furnishing and car were not covered by insurance, the family stated.

Disembarking Of German Refugees Balked At Havana

Nearly Thousand On Liner Are Not Allowed To Land In Cuba

BY RICHARD ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, June 1.—Guarded by police and troops against self-destruction, 922 men and women German Jewish refugees milled about the decks and salons of the Hamburg American liner St. Louis today, barred from entry into Cuba and with no place to go save the homeland from which they fled.

Captain Wilhelm Schroeder, master of the St. Louis, expressed grave fears of a mutiny aboard the liner if the refugees are headed back toward Germany, and told a "collective suicide pact" threatened by the passengers if no haven is offered them.

In the face of this despairing situation, little hope was held out that the refugees would be allowed to land in Cuba. Luis Classing, Havana agent of the Hamburg American line, said that Cuban authorities appeared adamant in their determination to enforce President Lafedo Bru's stringent immigration laws.

No plans have yet been made for the St. Louis' departure, however, Classing said.

Admiral Leahy Gives Middies Splendid Talk

Points Out To Naval Academy Graduates That Grave Emergencies Come Up Every Generation

(International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 1.—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, today warned the U. S. Naval Academy's 1939 graduates that "a grave emergency comes in every generation" and cautioned them to be prepared.

Admiral Leahy, speaking in the absence of "our sailor president of the United States", quoted "a well-known contemporary writer" saying:

"'Doctors and army and navy officers have in them something of the same holy zeal of a monk. Their professions call for a renunciation of worldly wealth and place; they work for the joy of the job and get little thanks and much criticism for it, and are never really appreciated until a grave emergency arises.'

"This observation contains a lesson of value to all of us," the admiral continued. "A 'grave emergency' comes in every generation. It will come in yours but if you aspire to worldly goods, or ease, or the usual comforts of life ashore, the navy will be a misadventure and you should, in your own interest, begin another line of effort without delay."

Sewer Connection Permits Granted

Several Houses In Neshannock Township To Be Connected To City Sewer

When council met in the city building today solons granted permission to M. Dale Andrews to connect two houses in Edgewood avenue, Neshannock township, to the city sanitary system in North Mercer street. Previously permission was granted for the connection of three other houses. Norman Clark of the New Castle Mutual Loan & Benefit association represented Andrews.

During the session Councilman J. D. Alexander said that the question of Union township's request to connect with the city sanitary sewer system should be answered if houses outside the city were to be allowed to be connected.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated that the question was one for council to decide and added no delay should be permitted in making such an answer. From their remarks it was indicated speedy action will be taken one way or the other.

The main objection to permitting outside connections is because of City Engineer Glenn R. Throop's statement that the city system is too small to permit other divisions to empty sewage into the city's system.

To build a new sanitary sewer in North Mercer street for a large scale connection from Neshannock township would cost $30,000, it was developed.

Councilman James L. Fink offered the motion permitting Andrews to make the connection on the understanding the other questions would be settled soon.
